Day 1 - Random Act of Christmas Kindness

Inspired by the 30 days of thanks during the month of November, I am attempting 24 days of "Random Acts of Christmas Kindness" during the month of December.

No, I have never done this before, but I love this idea. I will be posting each random act. Admitting that I have feelings of reluctance of posting because I don't want it to look like I am bragging, but rather, the purpose of posting my "random acts of Christmas kinds" is to inspire others to do so also or just for people to just enjoy it. A little bit of kindness can go a long way. Don't you agree? Reminds me of the song by Glen Campbell, Try a Little Kindness.

I have to admit, I am excited about the next 24 days. Pretty sure I will be getting more out of this than what I will be giving. So here goes Day 1:

Day 1 - Random Act of Christmas Kindness

I started off my 24 days of Random Acts of Christmas Kindness by joining my local church Christmas caroling event this afternoon. We visited a local church member's home and then proceeded to visit 4 nursing homes and/or assisted living. It was very neat to see the residents join in with the singing. Appreciation and joy was shown all over their faces.

Our church is a small country church and Christmas caroling is an annual tradition. There were about 25 of us, all ages. After caroling, we all went back to the church and enjoyed soup and sandwich.

For my curiosity sake, has anyone done a "Random Act of Christmas Kindness". If so, what did you do and was it successful. Would love to hear some feedback!
