

About me

Welcome to Minnesota Farm Living! I am so glad you are here!

My name is Wanda Patsche and I live in southern Minnesota and frankly, where I have spent my entire life. I am a wife, mom and grandmother - some of my most proud accomplishments. My husband and I own and operate a typical independent modern midwest farm raising corn, soybeans and pigs.

Let me just start and say, I am passionate about ag. I never grew up on a farm, but have developed a true appreciation for agriculture over the years. My calling is to help bridge the disconnect we all see between consumers and farmers. I love sharing my "story" through my blog, my social media platforms, speaking engagements and person-to-person conversations.

Reading my blog gives you my perspective and the truth about agriculture. I also share pictures of my family, my farm and beautiful rural Minnesota farm living. Occasionally other topics move my soul which I share also.

Presentations:

- My Agvocacy Story
- Food and Farm
- Today's Ag Story
- The Power of Social Media in Agriculture
- Building your Social Media Tool Box
- Vietnam - An Amazing Trip
